The Opportunity To Get Involved

Membership of the Independent Tertiary Education Council Australia (ITECA) is all about getting involved and empowering your team with the information to make informed business decisions and with the influence to drive reform.

ITECA Membership is all about collaborating with your colleagues working with independent Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) that share your commitment to excellence. You'll meet the people and be introduced to the ideas that will allow you to drive improvements not only within your own organisation, but across Australia's vocational education and training system.

Information To Make Informed Decisions

There are opportunities and risks in the vocational training sector. ITECA membership allows you to attend meetings that will empower you with the information to understand what these are and how to position your organisation for long-term sustainable growth.

Influence To Drive Reform

From improving access to the government's investment in skills, reducing red tape and rebooting the international education sector, ITECA membership lets you get involved in policy advocacy and meet with government officials, giving you the influence to drive change.

Increasing Your Professional Networks

Throughout the year, you'll have the opportunity to meet and collaborate with other professionals that share your passion for ensuring that Australia's vocational training sector has access to the opportunities to grow and to grow its reputation for excellence.

Enhanced Profile & Reputation

Students, businesses and governments recognise the commitment to excellence that ITECA members have. As a member, your organisation will be working among leaders known as innovators in the delivery of quality vocational training.

ITECA offers the opportunity for you to get involved in a range of committees and interest groups that are dedicated to solving the challenges, and identifying the opportunities, that come before you every day. As a member-driven organisation, ITECA is responsive to the needs of independent RTOs across the nation. Our members set our direction, fund our activities and directly benefit from the results. Take the next step and get involved in this growing community that shares your commitment to excellence.
