

Higher Education Membership

The Opportunity To Get Involved

Membership of the Independent Tertiary Education Council Australia (ITECA) is all about getting involved and empowering your team with the information to make informed business decisions and with the influence to drive reform in Australia's independent higher education sector.

ITECA Membership is all about collaborating with your colleagues working with independent higher education providers that share your commitment to excellence. ITECA's strength is its ability to bring together dual sector providers with a commitment to excellence – those providers supporting students in both the higher education and vocational training sectors.

Information To Make Informed Decisions

There are opportunities and risks in the higher education. ITECA membership allows you to attend meetings that will empower you with the information to understand what these are and how to position your organisation for long-term sustainable growth.

Influence To Drive Reform

A key advocacy priority is to support student choice, allowing them to access subsidised places and student loan programs to study with independent higher education providers. You'll also work on regulatory issues to reduce the red-tape burden you face.

Increasing Your Professional Networks

Throughout the year, you'll have the opportunity to meet and collaborate with other professionals that share your passion for ensuring that Australia's independent higher education sector can grow and raise its reputation for excellence.

Enhanced Profile & Reputation

Students, businesses and governments recognise the commitment to excellence that ITECA members have. As a member, your organisation will be working among leaders known as innovators in the delivery of quality higher education.

As a member-driven organisation, ITECA is responsive to the needs of independent higher education providers across the nation. Our members set our direction, fund our activities and directly benefit from the results. Take the next step and get involved in this growing community that shares your commitment to excellence.

ITECA Membership – It's a great time to get involved.
